

Access Committee Members

Applications submitted through the NIH funded CIDR Program are evaluated for scientific and technical merit in accordance with NIH peer review procedures. The CIDR Access Committee (CAC) is convened by NHGRI six times per year.

Mitchell, Braxton D Jr, Ph.D., M.P.H., Chairperson Professor Departments of Medicine, Epidemiology and Public Health University of Maryland	Kraft, Peter, Ph.D. Professor Department of Epidemiology and Biostatistics Harvard School of Public Health
Brzustowicz, Linda M, MD Distinguished Professor and Chair Department of Genetics Nelson Biological Laboratories Rutgers University	Kwok, Pui-Yan, M.D., Ph.D. Henry Bachrach Distinguished Professor Department of Dermatology University of California, San Francisco
Epstein, Michael P, Ph.D. Professor Department of Human Genetics Emory University School of Medicine	Lunetta, Kathryn L, Ph.D. Professor Department of Biostatistics Boston University School of Public Health
Fingerlin, Tasha, Ph.D. Associate Professor, Dept of Biomedical Research Director, Program in Quantitative Genetics and Center for Genes, Environment and Health National Jewish Health	Marazita, Mary, Ph.D. Professor and Vice Chair Dept of Oral Biology Director, Center for Craniofacial and Dental Genetics School of Dental Medicine University of Pittsburgh
Gejman, Pablo, M.D. Dr. Louis W. Saur Chair of Research Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Neuroscience Director, Center for Psychiatric Genetics Northshore University HealthSystem	Schaid, Daniel J, Ph.D. Professor Division of Biostatistics College of Medicine Mayo Clinic
Kooperberg, Charles L, Ph.D. Full Member and Program Head, Biostatistics Program Division of Public Health Sciences Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center

Updated: July 31, 2017